1. While I was stationed at Eger ~~/4754N-2022E/~~ I often passed by an unidentified building near Feldebroe ~~/4749N-2012E/~~ on the road going west. See Annex A, point 5, this report to the ammunition supply depot 25X1A
This building was in existence in 1951 and I do not know when it was built. I never entered the building or the fenced-in area. I never observed smoke coming from the chimneys during the summer 25X1
2. This building attracted my attention because of the large number of political police guarding such a comparatively small area. On several occasions I observed as many as two or three Russian officers (captains and majors) entering the building. I never saw any civilians enter or leave the building. I do not believe very many people had entry to it, but I cannot estimate the total number who had.

3. I believe the building might have been used for ammunition storage, with possible underground storage facilities, since the whole area is known for its underground tunnels. I observed trucks coming from the direction of Verpelet /4751N-2014E/, where an ammunition factory was said to exist [redacted]. I never saw the loads because they were covered with canvas. The building seemed to operate 24 hours a day. I saw GAZ (GMC) trucks, weapon carrier types, driven by political police arrive and depart, usually late in the evenings. 25X1

Legend

1. High Tension Wires. Eight wires, on steel trusses extending east and west 100 m. north of wire fence. I could not see whether any led into the building. The only wires I observed leading to the building were four normal gauge electrical wires coming from the road to the south side of the building.
2. Ground, within fenced area, unobstructed; slight rolling terrain with field grass, uncut. Entire area clear except for building in center.
3. Building, one story concrete construction, 20 m. long x 16 m. wide x 8 m. high, flat roof with two chimneys 3 m. high x 50 cm. wide. Two windows faced east, one faced south, there were none on the west side, and I could not observe the north side. The windows were not barred. I was able to see into the door when traveling west on road /Point #5/ and observed what appeared to be a vestibule with another door leading into the main portion of the building.
4. Fence, heavy gauge wire, four meters high with three or four strands of barbed wire on top.
5. Road, crushed stone five-six meters wide, secondary, drainage ditches both sides one meter deep, leads west to ammo supply depot.
6. Guards, eight, political police, carrying submachine guns or automatic rifles. I did not observe frequency of guard change.
7. Gate and driveway, gate kept locked, guard posted to check passes. Dirt driveway led to front of building.
